Low-Cost Loans, Tax Refunds, Federal Grants to Ease Flood Losses

"You may think your flood damage was trivial --- go down to Trenton anyway, and apply for Federal disaster aid."

That's what Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley said this week. His remarks were echoed by Township Police Chief Fred Porter and by the Princeton Chapter of the Red Cross.

President Gerald Ford's July 23 proclamation designated 12 New Jersey counties "disaster areas," among them Mercer. That means Princeton residents who suffered flood damage to their homes in the storms of July 13 and 21, can apply for help. You're eligible for:

- Low-interest, long-term loans
- Income-tax refunds
- Grants up to $5,000

You apply at Trenton High School, Greenwood Avenue and Chambers Street, from 10 to 6, seven days a week. Deadline is September 22.

The Red Cross and Chief Porter say you should take evidence with you to Trenton: photographs of the damage, estimates of repairs and if repairs have already been made, bills and records of repair.

To receive one of the grants, you and your spouse must be unemployed, have suffered personal property damage, derive half your income from welfare or Social Security, and own no real estate.

To get an income-tax refund, you should file amended 1974 returns (Form 1040X, for individuals; Form 1120X for corporations). You can get the forms at the Internal Revenue Office, 428 East State Street, Trenton.

Mayor Cawley pointed out that many people might have lost the food in a freezer, and ended up with a freezer still in existence and not at the bottom of Harry's Brook, but totally disabled.

The mayor himself will go to Trenton, hat in hand: the Borough Hall Council chamber ceiling gave way under the weight of water and the Sewer Operating Committee's sewage lift station in the Van Dyke Road area went completely under. (It's in the Township, but the Borough is the SOC banker).

"We had a flood of calls!" exclaims Princeton Fuel Oil's Bob Blazer, with deliberate humor. Often, the whole oil burner unit was drowned. Sometimes it was just the controls, or part of a unit like the chamber where the fire burns.

That chamber, if flooded, can be dried, but as William Deering of Nassau Oil points out, motors and transformers have to be replaced because they don't dry out. Old, badly-damaged units were simply replaced in toto.

More than one home-owner had to go the route twice. A motor or transformer might have been replaced after the July 14-storm --- the so-called "Bastille Day" storm --- but the burner might have gone down a second time on July 20. As for going down the third time, like a drowning swimmer so far, no third storm.

Yedlin Housing Project Moves Forward in Lengthy Hearings, But Numerous Construction Requirements Must Still Be Met

Two Township bodies cleared away another segment of the path for the Yedlin public housing project this week.

Township Committee — 2-1, with one abstention — denied on Monday night the appeal of opponents of the project from the Princeton Regional Planning Board's conditional site-plan approval.

The Zoning Board — 3-0, with one abstention — resolved technical difficulties which had threatened to start the whole use variance procedure all over again.

It took the two bodies three meetings and a total of 11 hours and 40 minutes to reach this point. The Zoning Board sat four hours and 20 minutes last Wednesday night, adjourning at 12:20 a.m. with exhausted minds, to reconvene Saturday morning at 10. That session lasted until 2:20 Saturday afternoon. Committee's regular Monday night meeting was occupied by the public housing question for three hours.

The next round will be Tuesday, September 2, when Benedict Yedlin, agent for the Princeton Housing Authority, shows site plan review committee members his plans for meeting their conditions: construction of a retention basin, grading and soil stabilization, landscaping, sidewalks, lighting, a bus-stop shelter and so on.

The next night — Wednesday, September 3 — Mr. Yedlin and the Authority will go before the full Planning Board. If site plan and Planning Board feel that Mr. Yedlin's engineering plans meet their conditions, presumably the project can proceed.

Environmental Factors. As the project has worked its way through the thorny thickets of protest, approval and conditions, it has developed that the crucial question before the Planning Board will be: "Are there any environmental reasons — strictly environmental — for reducing the number of housing units on the ten-acre plot?"

Plans call for 100 units, 60 for the elderly and 40 for families. Opponents want this number reduced. Even Township Mayor Jay Bleiman has said he would "prefer" fewer, but doesn't find 100 "impossible."

When Mayor Bleiman read Committee's resolution affirming the action of the Planning Board, he touched off a surprising burst of outrage on the part of the Yedlin-Authority lawyer, Thomas Jamieson, and supporters of the project in the audience. They were upset because the resolution pointed out that the Planning Board could consider the touchy question of the number of units, if it were relevant to environmental matters. It also "suggested" the board might hold a public hearing.

"It is highly inappropriate to 'suggest' what the Planning Board should do," Mr. Jamieson said indignantly, "and I object!"

"The resolution as it stands, is a suggestion to the Planning Board to reduce the number of units," declared Catherine McGrath, chairman of the Township's Citizens Advisory Committee on Housing.

Authority Exists. "If the retention basin is inadequate, in the eyes of the Planning Board, the board has the authority to reduce the number of units," said Joseph Stonaker, counsel to Committee for this case. Township attorney Gordon Griffin, on conflict-of-interest grounds, has not participated in any discussions of the Yedlin matter.

Then a lengthy discussion began. Had William Miller, counsel to the Planning Board, said the board couldn't consider the number of units, even when the environment was involved? James Green, opponent, said he had. Mayor Bleiman didn't remember it that way, and when Committee member Elizabeth Hutter suggested a conference with Mr. Miller to find out what he did say, Mr. Jamieson uttered an anguished protest at the thought of more delay.

But the evening was not solely devoted to discussion of who said what. Clarence diDonato, volatile supporter of public housing, at one point accused Col. Green of engaging in a filibuster. When Dwight O. North, member of the Township's Flood Control Committee, gave a long presentation involving statistics on recent storms and technical hydrographic data, Mr. diDonato burst out, "What's all this got to do with housing?" and even Mayor Bleiman said gently that although he was "reluctant" to turn Mr. North off, the question of relevance was in his mind.

Mr. North told Committee that day-by-day erosion is worse, long-range, than violent storms, and he urged Committee not to allow development on high ridges — like the Yedlin Mt. Lucas Road parcel — where gradients are steep and topsoil thin. Mr. North spoke feelingly of the "emotional feeling" people have about streams, and the suffering of people who see landscaping swept away. He suggested that other undeveloped parts of the Township — which he did not identify — would be better suited to housing.

A discussion of retention basins and their merits began to develop, and Mr. Jamieson protested again. Mayor Bleiman suggested Mr. North take his statistics to the Planning Board.

Impact Study Lacking. It developed, during these discussions, that a formal Environmental Impact study had not been made, only a "statement" with special clearance by HUD, the Federal Housing and Urban Development Agency.

After this was revealed, Vivian Carlin, long a housing supporter in the Township, rose in the audience and said in exasperation,

"I have never heard of any project given so much environmental time and discussion. We've heard these things ad nauseum! I'm not concerned with bleeding hearts who are emotional about their landscaping. What about people living four to a room? Where were the environmentalists when 80,000 houses were under consideration? They suddenly pop up when we're here to discuss 100 lousy units of housing — and 60 for old people, at that. Don't let them use the environment simply as a dodge."

When nearly three hours of this had passed, Mayor Bleiman acknowledged that the resolution "may carry a signal of intervention with the Planning Board to reduce the number of units," and that part of the resolution was wiped out.

Elimination of it caused Committee member William Sulphin to abstain in the vote. Mayor Bleiman and Margaret Broadwater voted to affirm the Planning Board's site plan approval, but Mrs. Hutter voted "no."

Need Unquestioned. She read a long statement, emphasizing "There is no question in my mind about the need for low-income housing," and expressing concern over possible undermining of "the entire structure of local ordinances, laws and regulations, however mad-deningly cumbersome and confining they are."

She declared that environmental problems have not been exhaustively studied and disposed of, and said recent storms show drainage problems have been pushed aside for too long.

Reservations about space limitations for buildings and parking, and the scale of the required retention basin and erosion-control berms, had caused her to feel she could not support the resolution, she said.

Len Newton, another housing stalwart, observed from the audience that it had taken ten years to get the 100 units of housing this far, and he said he questioned whether Township government "can deliver on its promises."

This stung Mayor Bleiman. "It is the failure of Federal policies," he said sharply, "not the failure of this community, and Federal failure of monumental proportions."

Neighbors who had taken the appeal to Committee had asked for re-consideration of the 100-unit figure. Mr. Stonaker stated that, since the project is now before the Appellate Division of Superior Court, Committee doesn't have the authority to reconsider. When Col. Green protested that Mr. Stonaker's role was only advisory, Mayor Bleiman replied, "We do not take his counsel lightly."

Two days earlier, on Saturday afternoon, the Zoning Board had decided that changes in site plans were inevitable, and did not require the Housing Authority to go back to the Zoning Board. They also voted that 90 parking spaces are all right, but required the Authority to provide room for 30 more if zoning officer W.J. Shinn thinks they are needed. Differences in floor-area ratio between two Yedlin plans are not significant, the board decided. Martha Lamar, Planning Board member on Zoning, abstained in the vote.

Flood Damage Procedure

After Doria, the 1971 storm, Township Committee moved to qualify the municipality under Federal flood insurance regulations. The Township met requirements regarding building codes, land subdivision ordinances and the like, and was declared eligible. This means Township residents can buy inexpensive Federally-subsidized flood insurance. Borough residents can't: Council never acted.

John Bernard, president of Sturhahn, Dickenson and Bernard, the insurance firm, says the charge is only $100 for a maximum of $35,000 insurance on a house (up from the original $17,000) with a $200 deductible feature. About 20 clients hold this insurance through his firm, he says, and estimates that other Princeton insurance firms have about that number.

Incidentally, damage to oil

Watersheds Studied. With this flood insurance eligibility goes participation in studies to delineate areas subject to flooding. The Millstone and Raritan watersheds have both been studied by Federal engineers, the Township itself has paid for a study (the Killam study) of Harry's Brook.

The Flood Control Committee, set up in the Township, is already talking with the Killam firm about a study of Mountain Lakes Brook—that's the one that menaces Red Hill Road, Laurel Circle, Cherry Hill Road and Winfield Drive joining Stony Brook near Johnson Park School.

Van Horne Brook, the one that crosses Mt. Lucas Road and appears around Princeton House, River Road and Rocky Hill on its way to the Millstone, will also be studied eventually, and so will a small, but exasperating stream in the Riverside area.

Where was the Flood Control Committee during all this?

It hasn't met since the storms. But Dwight North, a member of it, says its major job is not to control floods, but to continue these flood plain studies and advise Township Committee on ordinances that would regulate the use of land. Mr. North and other observers are especially anxious about the Mountain Lakes Brook area because it hasn't yet been developed. With Harry's Brook, it's almost too late.

Worth a Try. "There is no physical way known to man to guard against this kind of downpour," Mr. North says gloomily, but Township Committee at least wants to try.

"We can't sit and fiddle while people sink," said Committee member Margaret Broadwater tartly at Monday night's meeting.

"Let's DO something!" exclaimed Howard Schrader.

Mr. Schrader lives at 59 Meadowbrook, at Braeburn. His wife told Committee the Schraders had eight to twelve inches of water in the living quarters of their one-story house. "Three times," Mrs. Schrader said calmly.

Mr. Schrader had built a sea-wall, and he said it protected against the force of the water, but not against its level.

"Buy my property for a park—don't let people keep living there," he proposed.

Engineer Joseph Hodak assured him a new design for the Braeburn culvert had been moved "to the top of the hopper" since the floods.

Delay Foreseen. Committee unanimously voted to ask Mr. Hodak for designs of enlarged culverts in three Township locations, designs to be taken for approval to the Water Policy and Supply Council. ("There's a one-year wait there," Mr. Hodak warned).

Committee member William Sutphin, who made the proposal, asked for enlarged culverts on Terhune at Randall (to be increased from 93 cubic feet per second to 570); Braeburn at Meadowbrook (230 to 740) and Snowden Lane, (590 to 925).

Figures come from the Killam report, which had designated all these bridges as "hydraulically inadequate." There are seven more in the Township labelled "inadequate" but Mr. Sutphin explained he had concentrated on bridges near buildings—houses, chiefly.

Mayor Jay Bleiman protested that all this was premature: get the Flood Control Committee to examine the whole reach of Harry's Brook. From the audience Edwin Hutter, husband of Committeewoman Hutter, suggested running simulation studies on a computer to find out the effect of enlarging culverts.

Later, Mr. North said he didn't think such computer studies are necessary, "We haven't asked Killam to run them because we don't have enough money to build bridges all at once. It doesn't follow that you'll make mistakes by building a few at a time: take the bridges causing the most suffering, and work there."

Meanwhile, to take the sting out...the township Board of Health says there isn't a hint of a mosquito plague.

Approval for Completion of Sheehan Building Withheld Again By Zoning Board as Neighbors Sign Petition Favoring Action

After listening to a lengthy presentation by attorney William C. Baggitt, the Borough Zoning Board last week declined to take action on the application of Dundas Corporation concerning the expansion of the unfinished office building at 363 Nassau Street.

Instead, the board issued the following statement: "Because of the importance of this case and because of the complexity of the issues raised, the Board has postponed action in order to obtain more information and testimony." The Board then announced that it will continue the hearing by holding a special public meeting devoted to the application on Thursday, September 11, in Borough Hall.

The applicant is seeking two kinds of relief—a use variance that would enable it to add 2,280 square feet of retail space on the first floor, and bulk variances that would permit the addition of two stories of approximately 10,000 square feet each to the three existing floors. Included are an increase in the permitted 35-foot height to 56 feet; an increase in the floor area ratio from a permitted 1.25 to 2.4 and the waiver of 52 off-street parking spaces.

Fifty-three parking spaces are provided on site, most in an underground parking area. The building is located in a residential-office zone which prohibits retail.

After the hearing, only one couple from the audience (Mr. and Mrs. James Peebles, 24 Markham Road) spoke against the application—and that was qualified. "Our main concern in the increase in traffic," said Mr. Peebles. "Markham Road is remarkably quiet." There will be an entrance and exit on Markham Road and Nassau Street.

Alfred Kahn of Oldea Street supported the application. "Let's get rid of this eyesore," he said. There were no comments from the audience.

Petition Presented. Timothy J. Sheehan Jr., 216 Russell Road, the contractor who started construction in 1968 and who identified himself as secretary of the Dundas Corporation, the present owner, presented a petition to the board. It contained, he said, approximately 45 signatures from residents and property owners in the area which he and his wife had obtained from personal visits.

In requesting the variances be granted, the signers agreed, "In our opinion, the building must be completed in the interest of the public."

Princeton architect Burton Weisbecker told the board that he had been retained by Mr. Sheehan in 1965 to "create a building that would be unique—a landmark."

The Sheehan Building: 1968 to Present

As outlined for the Zoning Board by Timothy Sheehan, construction on the building at 363 Nassau began May 11, 1968. It was halted in November of the same year when the Borough was in the process of re-zoning the area from B-1 to residential-office. The ordinance was passed in December and the Borough then obtained an injunction in Superior Court to halt construction.

The court dismissed the Borough complaint, whereupon the Borough appealed to the Appellate Court in March, 1970, only to have that court unanimously affirm the lower court's ruling. As a practical matter, no construction could take place while the case was in litigation, Mr. Sheehan said, although he was allowed to finish pouring the second and third floors in January, 1971.

There has been no construction since then. In January, '71, Mr. Sheehan filed a petition for bankruptcy. The building was sold by a Federal Court and purchased by 146 Dundas Corporation, a Florida-based firm owned by Mr. Sheehan's father-in-law. The building came out of bankruptcy about a year ago, Mr. Sheehan said. "Since then, costs have changed. The feasibility of the building ten years ago is entirely different today."

Additional floors, he said, "would only reenforce the structural concept" of the concrete and beige tinted glass building. The taller the building, he maintained, the better it would look.

Mr. Sheehan then presented a cost analysis of the building. The cost of the building shell as it presently exists—excluding the land which was purchased in 1954 for $115,500—is $700,000. To complete the building as originally approved would cost an additional $850,000 for a total of $1,550,000 or $70.45 per square foot.

To complete the building as proposed (five stores) would cost $1,950,000 or $47 per square foot. Mr. Sheehan pointed out that $100,000 in savings would accrue from buying for a larger construction.

Red Ink Projected. Using $8 per square foot as an average for Princeton, Mr. Sheehan projected an income of $176,000 for the present building. From that, he subtracted $155,000 for annual interest and amortization, and "the amount of money needed to carry a building on an annual basis." From a net profit of $21,000 he next subtracted $85,000 for taxes, heat and other expenses incurred by a landlord or a $64,000 annual loss for the building as presently proposed.

Using the same constant factors for five stories, Mr. Sheehan arrived at a net annual income of $9,000. "Clearly," Mr. Sheehan summed up, "if one were to finish the building as it presently exists, it would mean a financial loss."

In fact, he said, he couldn't finish the building as it exists "because mortgage bankers know these figures as well as I do." When questioned by a board member, he said that he had tried, without success, to obtain money to complete the present structure from about a dozen financial institutions as far away as Chicago.

To achieve a minimal net income from the present building, he would have to charge $11.36 per square foot in rent, Mr. Sheehan said. But real estate broker John Henderson testified later that the highest price for office space in Princeton was $8.50 and that good office space was available for less in the Palmer Square area. Mr. Henderson's office is located nearby at 353 Nassau.

Why? Why would you want to build more floors to make $9,000 a year?" asked board member Michael Rockland of Mr. Sheehan. "I have seven children," replied Mr. Sheehan.

"I am never going to get anything out of the building other than depreciation and tax savings, but my original intention was to provide for their future. They're a lot older now... still it is my intention to provide for their future, their education.

The newspapers refer to it as the 'Sheehan Building.' I'm not particularly proud to have my name attached to it."

After Mr. Sheehan had presented his cost analysis, his attorney, Mr. Baggett asked, "At the present time is it possible to complete the building as presently approved?"

"No chance in the world," Mr. Sheehan replied.

Robert G. Strong, a professional planning consultant, who at one time had his office at 362 Nassau, told the board that the area was "somewhat in transition" and a "hodge-podge" of retail and service business, quasi and semi-public building and residential. There have been nominal improvements with the single major exception of the renovation of the First National Bank building, he observed.

"In that light, the completion of 363 Nassau would add greater substance to the total rehabilitation of the area." As for residential, there would be minimal exposure. Only two homes, he stated, would suffer directly, one on Sergeant Street and one on Markham Road.

As for parking, he maintained there was a wide variety of alternatives, pointing out that the Bank across the street had a large lot, Princeton Plaza, also across the street, had 60 spaces and a municipal lot next to the Firehouse had 35. Mr. Strong further contended the Borough could limit parking in the area by the use of meters.

He hammered away at the present building being both an eyesore and safety hazard. As such, he maintained, it "can be nothing but deleterious to property values in the surrounding area."

In response to a question from the board, he said that the tallest other building in the area was 2½ stories.

Two Win Approval. In other cases, the Zoning Board granted a special exception to Joint Venture to place three begins to stop

Hearts which become alarmed at the thought of rain can rest more easily for the immediate future, the Man reports. Odds are that July will bow out Thursday night without additional precipitation, which now totals around 19 inches for the month — approximately 600% more than we might normally expect.

If rain is not in the immediate picture, a return to typical summer-time humidity is. Daytime temperature readings in the high 80s are also forecast right through the weekend.

directory signs on the retail building it owns at the corner of Witherspoon and Hulfish, and a minor bulk variance to Harry R. Slayback, 11 Jefferson Road, to enlarge the rear of his garage.

In the application of R. Peter Hodge, 32 VanDeventer, the board reaffirmed its previous action. It confirmed that the storage use of a building in the rear of the property is a valid, pre-existing non-conforming use and may continue.

However, it again denied a conditional use authorization for four apartments in the dwelling in front of the property—already there in violation of the zoning code—unless the applicant voluntarily ceases use of the rear storage barn. The board again gave its reason as "concern over the potential hazard of such mixed use on a single lot."

JOINT ASSESSOR

For Borough, Township. Stuart Robson Sr., tax assessor for Princeton Township, will shortly be tax assessor for the Borough, also, succeeding Edward Warren, who has retired. Council Borough Council will hold public hearing on the enabling ordinance at its August meeting next Monday at 8. Council is meeting August 4 rather than on the second Tuesday because of vacation schedules.

Technically, the two assessors' offices will be separate—unless Mr. Robson decides to have them under one roof. State law says the assessor is the employee of the municipality with the most rateables, so Mr. Robson will remain on the Township staff. No final decision has been made, Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley said, on the Borough's share of Mr. Robson's salary.

Mr. Robson has been Township assessor since 1954. He is on the Princeton Day School faculty, teaching biology and psychology, and has been a teacher there since 1940, when the school was still Princeton Country Day.

HARNEY TO RESIGN

As Borough Engineer. Donald T. Harney, Borough engineer since 1969, will leave Borough Hall to become Mercer County engineer, effective September 2. He will replace Roland Krueger, who died last spring.

So far, no replacement for Mr. Harney has been selected, Mayor Robert W. Cawley said Tuesday. In addition to the professional engineer's license, Mr. Harney holds a sewer operating plant license and a surveyor's license. George Olexa, second in command in the Borough engineer's office, has neither, Mayor Cawley said. He is, however, a licensed professional engineer.

Mr. Harney, in addition to being the Borough's engineer, is also its zoning officer, and Mayor Cawley said he and Council might want to review the ordinance governing the engineer's duties while they are deciding whom to name in Mr. Harney's place. The Borough plans to advertise for the job, as well as consider "in-house" personnel, the mayor said.

Mr. Harney was assistant

Borough engineer from 1964 until 1969. He is a 1964 graduate of Drexel Institute of Technology. He is one of four engineers in the area who applied for Mr. Krueger's job.

"We're very sorry to lose him," Mayor Cawley said, "but this job will give him wider scope and greater responsibility, and a higher salary. We just couldn't compete."

The new post pays $28,000. Mr. Harney's Borough salary is $22,946.

THOSE WATER RATES

Committee Will Study, The 1974 annual report of the Elizabethtown Water Company and the two quarterly reports so far this year will be scrutinized by Township Committee before Committee members take a stand on Elizabethtown's request for a 12½ percent rate increase, Committee decided Monday night.

In other business, after the three-hour-long discussion of the Yedlin public housing proposal, Committee noted three personnel changes on Township boards. Martha Lamar, Planning Board member who is an alternate on the Township Zoning Board, has resigned from the Zoning Board because she is moving into the Borough. A recently passed ordinance allows her to continue on the Planning Board-- it is a joint body-- but she must be a resident of the Township to sit on the Zoning Board.

Committee decided not to accept yet the resignation of Judith Nielsen from the Environmental Commission. Committee member Elizabeth Hutter and Mayor Jay Bleiman spoke warmly of Mrs. Nielsen's contribution to the Commission and decided to ask her to remain.

Earl Thomas, of the Magie Apartments on Faculty Road, was named an alternate member of the Zoning Board replacing Eugene Haring, who has become a full member.

HEARING SCHEDULED

In Vieland-Euell Complaint. The state's Civil Rights Division has made a finding of "probable cause" in the complaint of Constance Vieland and Virginia Euell of the Princeton Regional School

Judge To Rule Shortly on Golf Club Claim That It Operates as Private Accomodation

Springdale Golf Club may learn within a short time whether its contention that the charge of discrimination made against it several months ago is invalid.

New Jersey Superior Court Judge A. Jerome Moore has heard arguments on the matter from attorneys representing the club and the State Division on Civil Rights. He has also received written briefs from both sides and has said that they will be notified of his decision by mail "as soon as possible."

Possible indication that the charge against the club may be unacceptable to the court, was given in a statement attributed to Judge Moore. Civil Rights officials have based their complaint on the grounds that Springdale is a public accomodation because the land on which its members play is owned by Princeton University. It also maintains that inasmuch as Princeton University operates in part with the assistance of federal funds, the University itself is a public institution. Judge Moore has been quoted as considering such reasoning "almost ludicrous."

Nearly a year after Marvin Trotman, a black guidance counselor and basketball coach at Princeton High School, was rejected for membership at Springdale, the Civil Rights Division filed a complaint against the club. Earlier this month, the club's attorney, Richard J. Casey, brought a counter suit against the division, maintaining that Springdale had been done "irreparable harm" as a result of the charge.

The Civil Rights Division has indicated that it will not drop its action even if the judge rules that Springdale is a private facility. If it pursues the matter and a conciliatory meeting between Mr. Trotman and the club is fruitless, the backlog of cases before the division could result in a delay of two years before the matter is finally settled.

system that they were discriminated against on the basis of sex, in Miss Euell's case, of race. A conciliation hearing has been scheduled for Friday, August 22.

"Probable cause" means that the Director of the Civil Rights Division (Vernon N. Potter) has information that causes him to conclude there was discrimination. This is different from a finding of fact, a division spokesman pointed out.

At the conciliation hearing-- which is not public-- the division will discuss with representatives of Princeton's school board a written proposal for resolving the problem. If conciliation fails, a deputy attorney general would determine whether a public hearing might resolve the case.

The school board refused to hire Miss Euell as principal of the Middle School. She had served as acting principal. Dr. Vieland was denied tenure as director of Staff Services.

$1,000 MIXER STOLEN

From Colonial Club. A 200-pound food mixer and blender, valued at $1,000, was stolen between noon Saturday and 8

Sunday evening from the Colonial Club, 40 Prospect Avenue. Police said that it was removed from a rear stair area.

A grey metal tool box was taken last week from a car that was parked in the Witherspoon Street lot. The victim, a Trenton resident, said the box and tools inside were valued at $508.93. The car was forced open.

Kenneth T. McGregor of Magie Apartments, Faculty Road, listed the theft last week of a 15-foot aluminum canoe. It had been secured to a tree behind the apartments by a 1½-inch steel cable, which appears to have been severed, police said, by bolt cutters. It was valued at $375.

The theft of citizen band radios from parked cars continues in the Borough with three more taken last week.

One valued at $260 was stolen Friday afternoon from a car parked behind 163 Nassau Street. The victim was a Prospect Avenue resident. Another ($140) was taken from under the dash of a locked car parked in the PMI lot off Hulfish Street. Police

Now It's Official: Princeton Is Historic

Princeton's downtown, complete with drug stores, boutiques, bus stops and movie palaces, has just been placed on the National Register of Historic Places.

This is not simply a Bicentennial gimmick, but a permanent designation with long-range implications for the development of a community. For example, under the Historical Preservation Act, no Federal money can be spent or licenses granted for projects that encroach on a National Register spot.

Constance Greiff, local historian whose efforts resulted in Princeton's designation, points out that this means control of such projects as road building. She says that when the state announced its plans to widen Route 206, efforts were made-- successfully-- to get Lawrenceville on the National Register and this brought the bulldozers to a halt.

In New Jersey, lands on the National Register automatically go on the state register, which means that no state, county or local money can be spent, for encroaching projects, either. However, properties on the Register are eligible for matching grants for preservation.

The application for Princeton was made to the state five years ago, Mrs. Greiff said. Procedure calls for state approval, then forwarding to Washington for review, and eventual signature by the Keeper of the National Register.

The area included on the Register has its western boundary at Lovers Lane. The line goes up Stockton, down the west side of Library Place-- to include both of Woodrow Wilson's houses-- to Hodge Road and Avalon to the corner of Witherspoon, jogging around the cemetery.

Then it goes along the east side of Vandeventer to Washington Road, jogging again to include the clubs on Prospect, back down Washington Road, west along the Borough-Township line, detouring for McCarter Theatre, then up Alexander, west on College Road to include the Graduate College, up Springdale, west on Mercer and thence home to Lovers Lane.

report the owner was a Hopewell resident and that the radio was owned by the Princeton First Aid Squad.

Taken the same day from the same lot was a 23-channel CB radio from a car owned by a resident from Allentown. It was valued at $125. Police said that the car was locked but a window had been left slightly open on one side.

A locked car on William Street was entered last week and yielded a clock radio ($20) and a golf umbrella ($10) taken from a rear seat. The victim was a Princeton resident.

Stolen Sunday between 12:30 and 4:30 in the afternoon from a Prospect Avenue apartment were a clock radio, black suitcase and three cans filled with coins. Entry was gained by way of a window.

Wallet Thefts. A Princeton Seminary student lost $15 and two checks last week when her red leather wallet and shoulder bag were stolen from her room in Erdman Hall. The room was unlocked.

A Sea Girt resident lost $40 when his leather wallet was taken from the seat of his unlocked car last week in Marquand Park. A 70-year old Palmer Square resident lost between $15 and $20 when her wallet and white leather purse were snatched one evening early last week while she was walking on Palmer Square.

Police report that a youth on a bicycle reached out and grabbed the victim's purse as he rode by. They declined to give a description of the suspect.

A Princeton resident told police last week that his wife had lost $50 when her pocketbook was taken from their Stockton Street apartment. He said that it may have been taken when three or four men walked into their apartment around midnight, one carrying a flashlight.

Asked what they were doing there, the men turned and left. His wife's pocketbook was only about six feet away, the man said.

THREE ARE FINED

In Borough Court. Three Princeton residents were fined Monday in Borough traffic court.

Mace Mohrman, 22 Jefferson Road, was fined $35 and had his license revoked for 60 days for reckless driving. Fined $15 each were Mark P. Campbell, 105 Leigh Avenue, failure to set hand brake, and Robert W. Koether, 89 Rosedale Road, red light violation.

4 ENTRIES REPORTED

In Township. Township police reported four break-ins last week.

Indonesian Whom Japanese Listed as "Dead" in World War II Marks 15th Anniversary with Family in Home-Town Princeton

Thirty years ago, Frits Dumpel, a second lieutenant in the Dutch East Indies Army, was a prisoner of war in his native Indonesia and thrice certified "dead" by his Japanese captors.

Fifteen years ago, married and the father of two children, he was in Holland, land of his wife's forbearers, looking to emigrate through Church World Service to the United States, land of greater opportunity for his children.

Today the Dumpel family, American citizens for the past ten years, exemplify the best that can come out of church sponsorship. They own their home on Dorann Avenue, Frits has worked back up to management level jobs, their two children are college graduates, and the family has returned a hundred-fold the favors and kindnesses done to them through their involvement in the community and in the church that sponsored them.

SUCCESS STORY: Puck and Frits Dumpel celebrate 15 years since coming to Princeton as immigrants under church sponsorship.

They lived for a month in a house loaned by a church member, then found an apartment on Wiggins Street. As Mrs. Evans recalls it, "The whole church pitched in and brought clothing, bedding and furniture. It was wonderful."

Learning English from TV. Someone arranged for Erica to attend the Y day camp; a doctor in the congregation saw to Pieter's earaches. The children learned English from an old TV set that was donated.

Later, when school began, Mrs. Homrighausen, who spoke German, went to Pieter's school twice a week to help him with his lessons. Frits himself explained all the subject matter to the children again in Dutch at night so that they would not fall behind.

Frits himself began work at Princeton Fuel Oil in the stock room, earning $1.50 an hour, but within three years had risen to a managerial position. A merchandiser in an export-import firm in Indonesia and in its Rotterdam office, Frits had taken a three months' course in welding in Holland as job insurance for the transition to America. He never used his welding skills, but instead studied computers in New York and accounting at Rider.

Before long he was offered a job with IBM in Kingston, New York, but the family, by now happily entrenched, did not want to leave Princeton. A position as analyst programmer in Administration Systems and Data Processing opened up at Princeton University which he held until 1970. That year, the family left Princeton for a two-year assignment at the Institute of Technology in Kampur, India, representing the University as analyst programmer. Today he is a systems analyst in the Information Systems Company of McGraw-Hill.

Varied Occupations. Puck took baby-sitting jobs at first, then worked for a pediatrician, later operated the switchboard and kept records at the high school. Currently she does the bookkeeping for the Leigh Avenue Nursery School.

Pieter was graduated from the high school in 1967 and, in his father's footsteps, went to Rider College to study accounting. Married to the former Linda Fountain, a high school sweetheart, and the father of an 18-month old son, he is supervisor in the Royalty Department of the Book

LOVE-SHY: The two hesitant lovers in "The Voice of the Turtle" are a World War II soldier on leave (Jim Shankman) and an aspiring actress (Ann Hoffman). Both are in Summer Intime's production of the John Druten 1940s romance.

News Of The THEATRES

BACK IN '43
"Voice of the Turtle." The gentle play called "The Voice of the Turtle," not heard in the land for many years, will be on stage starting this Thursday at Murray Theatre, as part of Summer Intime's summer season.
The play, by John van Druten, was a romantic comedy hit of the war years of the 1940s. It centers around the relationship between a young actress, played in this production by Anne Hoffman, and a serviceman on leave, portrayed by Jim Shankman.

They are thrown together when the actress' sophisticated friend (Katherine Stewart), discards the serviceman on the actress' doorstep before rushing off on another date.

As the play unfolds, the audience learns that both young people have been hurt by previous love affairs, and strongly resist the idea of falling in love again.

Mitchell Ivers, directing "Voice of the Turtle," says "I've simply adored this play for a long time and I'm delighted to bring it to the public's attention again. It's a play that meant an awful lot to people during the war, and I've tried to recapture the period feeling as much as possible."

"Voice of the Turtle" will play this Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m., and Sunday at 7:30 p.m., and the following week-end. Reservations may be made at 452-8181.

IT'S MIDNIGHT....
...and Cabaret Opens. Midnight Cabaret, in the Lower Room next to Murray Theatre, will have "an evening of boffo Broadway banter and music" this Saturday, according to press notices.

D'Arcy Achziger will direct a collection of songs from then until now, in a revue promised to be "crazy, clever, crisp and colorful... and above all, fun." Performers will be Eric Zwemer, Joseph Harbeson, Jim Hopkins, Shirley Kaufman, Bebe Neuwirth, Peggy Bayer and the director. Instrumentalists: Don Boroson and Danny Werts (piano), Chris Grace (bass) and "others" — unidentified.

FABULOUS FLICKS...
To Start the Week. Three more films in Summer Intime's series will unroll next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. All will be shown at 7:30 p.m. in McCormick Art Museum, near Murray Theatre.

"Stage Door", Monday's offering, examines the lives of a group of actresses living in a rundown boarding house in New York. It has Katharine Hepburn, Ginger Rogers, Eve Arden and Lucille Ball.

"Bunny Lake Is Missing," is ready for its Tuesday screening. This suspense film has Sir Laurence Olivier, Carol Lynley, Keir Dullea and

New Theatre Group Schedules Auditions

A new Princeton-based theatre group will hold open auditions next week for actresses.

The Standing Egg Theatre Ensemble - origins of the name wrapped in obscurity - will audition next Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. in Room 203 of Princeton University's Green Hall Annex, on the corner of Nassau and Washington Road.

Standing Egg consists of four male actors who need female actors to round out the company. The group plans to tour with three plays to east coast campuses, and people who try out will be asked to make a long-term commitment to a travelling, professional theatre ensemble. Princeton will be the out-of-town tryout town.

The four actors met when they were students at Trenton State. They are currently working on a production of Samuel Beckett's "Endgame," and are looking forward to "Adaptation," and possibly "Brecht on Brecht."

Actresses who audition are asked to take a resume, and to prepare a brief scene or monologue. It would also be helpful if the aspirants can sing.

Noel Coward, under Otto Preminger's direction. A four-year-old child is missing from nursery school. Where is she? Or does she even exist?

"I Am a Camera," for Wednesday, is the film version of John Druten's play. Audiences can compare the film with van Druten's "Voice of the Turtle" on Summer Intime's stage, live. Julie Harris stars as Sally Bowles, the cabaret singer in the darkening world of Berlin in the 1930's. "Cabaret" is another version of this story.

"AS YOU LIKE IT"

In Open Air Theatre. Fair Rosalind and all the gang will be at the Open Air Theatre in Washington Crossing State Park this weekend.

"As You Like It," probably one of Shakespeare's best-known and best-loved comedies, will have Colleen Smith (of Lambertville and New York City) as Rosalind and Tom Stackhouse (Hamilton Square and Muhlenberg College) as Orlando. Katherine Barry (Princeton) will be Princess Celia and Andrew Kornyak (speech professor, Trenton State) will be Jaques.

Opening night is this Thursday, and "As You Like It" will continue through Saturday, with curtain-time at 8:30 each evening. If it rains any night, Sunday will be the rain-date night.

"STOP THE WORLD....."

Next Stop; Peddie. "Stop the World-- I Want to Get Off," has scheduled a stop for Theatre-by-the-Lake, on the Peddie School campus in Hightstown.

The musical, which had a nice run in both London and New York, will be played next weekend, August 7, 8 and 9 at 8:30 p.m. Amie Brockway is directing, and Ray Mazzoli, Barbra Stults, Paula Korn-guth and Adrienne Brockway are in the cast.

LAST "ALICE"

This Thursday. The final Princeton performance of "You, Alice and Me," a play for children, will be given this Thursday at 10:30 a.m. at Trinity Church. The production is by Creative Theatre. Unlimited's Children's Theatre Troupe.

"Alice" has already traveled the wonderland of Englishtown, Trenton, Twin Rivers and East Windsor, carrying to greater Mercer County director Amie Brockway's adaptation of the adventures of Alice and other fanciful characters from children's fiction.

Thursday's performances will be attended by groups of physically and mentally handicapped children. It is open to the public. Admission is $1.50.

VIOLINIST TO PLAY

At Choir College. Ida Bieler, violinist on the faculty of Westminster Choir College, will play a program of music by Mozart, Ernst and

Those "Parkin' on Witherspoon St. Blues"
 I got those "Cannot Find a Parking Space on Witherspoon Street Blues"
 Lyrics by Roo Brown, music an ole classic blues, performers Roo Brown and Rita McDowell, this Friday night (9:30 and 11:30 p.m.) at The Inn Cabaret, in the Prince William Room at the Nassau Inn (First come, first served, come early for a seat, bar service)
 Inn Cabaret's mini-season is drawing to a close -- only this Friday and next Friday, August 8, remain. Besides the two singers named above, you'll see Georgine Freedman, Jim Hopkins and Reid and Laird White, with choreography by Joan Lucas, Don Boroson at piano and Dan Berkowitz as master of ceremonies.
 Piano, please?
 "Drivin' down the highway, goin' into town...
 But when I get there, no parkin' place to be found,
 Feelin' so frustrated, from my hat to my shoes,
 'Cause I've got the cannot-find-a-parking-space-on-Witherspoon-Street blues"
 I could check into the Nassau Inn, park my car for free.
 But, I haven't got a suitcase; Oh, the looks they'd give to me!
 Oh, I'd like to go down to Reilley's
 And pick up a fish,
 Lunch at Lahiere's with my favorite dish,
 Go to the Playhouse and see a star,
 Stop in at Harry's and buy a cigar,
 Drop in at Urken's and buy me some nails,
 But look for a space, and it never fails...
 I got those Cannot-find-a-parking-space-on-Witherspoon-Street blues!"

DANCER COMING
 To Show New Technique.
 The Dance Co-op will present Isa Partsch Bergsohn as guest artist Thursday, August 7, from 9:30-11:30 a.m. at its studio in the Witherspoon Presbyterian Church. Ms. Bergsohn is presently professor of dance at the University of California.
 Before coming to this country, she was a special assistant to Kurt Joos in Essen, Germany. Mr. Joos, who choreographed the ballet, "The Green Table," which is being performed by the Jeoffrey Ballet Company, developed a dance technique which is a cross between classical ballet and laban modern dance.
 Ms. Bergsohn assisted Mr. Joos for many years in defining and clarifying his technique. She will present the "Laban 12 scale," and build Rollerball. The film Rollerball has an exciting premise. In its world of the future, governments have fallen and the corporations taken over. Everything is controlled by the corporate mentality. Its greatest triumph of planning is the creation of a game called Rollerball, a violent sport intended to eliminate war by allowing men- and nations- to express their aggressive instincts on the playing field instead of the battle field.

ERIC

At the very least, the premise might have been expected to serve as a basis for Orwellian satire. But the film is totally humorless. Director Norman Jewison has approached the material with hushed, portentous reverence and proceeds to treat the banal dialogue as if they were momentous philosophical statements.

The film comes to life only in the three Rollerball sequences. The game is a wild variation of roller derby played with spiked gloves and a steel basketball. Also mixed in are elements of ice hockey, motorcycle racing and football. The action is skillfully staged and literally pulls one off the edge of one's seat.

James Caan stars as a Rollerball superstar who tries to fight the control of the corporate power structure. His show of strength is supposed to be viewed as an historic affirmation of free will and individuality but it is impossible to relate to Caan or anyone else because they have been turned into mannequins.

The Rollerball sequences alone almost make the movie worth seeing. But it is a heavy price to pay.

PRINCE

Tommy. The Who's 1969 best-selling rock opera about the spiritual odyssey of an abused child has been transferred to the film in "Tommy" with relentless energy and unbounded imagination.

Director Ken Russell's visualization of the best-selling record album (which was later done in concert and even ended up as ballet in Canada) is on an epic scale of exaggeration - encompassing everything from lust, human cruelty, and the Second World War to Hollywood idolatry, LSD and the search for a new Messiah. The visual effects are mindboggling; the sound track (every word is sung) is excellent, though at unrelentingly high pitch and volume, and the cast of pop culture figures more than enough to guarantee a pilgrimage by the young to the box office. Among them, Tina Turner, Elton John and The Who themselves.

IT'S NEW To Us

CRAFTS ARE NEW

At Now and Then Shop. After driving through acres of New Jersey farmland, it is always a pleasure to enter Cranbury with its pretty streets and Colonial houses. In the center of all this on Main Street is the Now and Then Shop, which as the name implies carries the old as well as the new.

Most of the new is along the craft line. There are some lovely pillows such as a handsome floral chintz one set on a dark blue background and trimmed with a white ruffle. We also liked a yellow gingham pillow with a fat elephant applied in the center.

Shells seem to have an universal appeal and brand new here are some mushroom-type sculptures made with olive shells and sand dollars, $1 and $15. And shortly to come are chokers with sand dollar pendants.

One of our favorite things was a blue wooden tool box with a painted strawberry design just right for the lady of the house, $10. Other thoughts for her include a bright orange, green or yellow watering can with a sprinkler nozzle, $3.50, or a patchwork potholder of gingham and florals, $2.

For Children... There are craft gifts for the children too, ranging from small wooden carved animals costing a quarter to a delightful Raggedy Andy at $10. While there are many stuffed animals to choose from, we especially liked Pooh Bear and his friends, Piglet and Kanga, $5 to $9.

There is also a fat Humpty Dumpty who comes in gingham, small florals or even a bandana print, and he would be welcomed in any nursery, $4. For the smallest child you might choose the red or blue calico bib trimmed with white eyelet, $1.75; and for any age there are take-apart wooden soldiers from Denmark, $3.50 and $4.50.

Miniature Collection

While the collecting of miniatures is both an intriguing and popular hobby, even more fascinating is the actual creating of these tiny pieces. The patience, imagination and dexterity that are required is mind-boggling.

Recently The Now and Then Shop was fortunate enough to acquire a collection made years ago by the grandmother of a Cranbury resident. Most of the collection represents 18th century pieces copied from museum sketches.

There is a diamond-shaped tip-top table on a tripod base; a Sheraton table with ribbed legs and a single drawer; a Salem chest; a desk with many drawers and a ladder-back chair with a rush seat.

The smaller pieces include lamps with pearls for light bulbs; a sterling tea set; a punch bowl with a tiny ladle; brass andirons and fireplace tools. This collection should not be missed and everything is priced from $3 to $30.

supplies found at most pharmacies, Junction Pharmacy has an incredible gift selection. Most exciting are the new Oak Tree Creations which include patchwork wreathes, stockings, purses and pillows.

The wreathes made with gingham and calico patches

Closed Saturdays during August

The Now and Then Shop - always seems to have a good selection of clocks, and currently there is an eight-day Seth Thomas one set in an ornate carved wooden case, $149. Also here is another eight-day clock dated 1870 that strikes on the hour and half-hour, $165.

Notable among the furniture is a pretty ladder-back slipper chair with a rush seat, $85, and a nice primitive pine peg table with a single drawer, $100. We also liked the turn-of-the-century mahogany lady's desk with many small drawers and cubbies. It is most unusual and in perfect condition, $350.

Throughout the store we noticed a great deal of china and glass. In addition there are some old trunks, a red and white quilt, tools and tin chocolate molds from the early 1900's.

The Now and Then Shop, located on Main Street in Cranbury, is open Tuesday through Saturday from 11 to 5, and starting in September the Sunday hours of 1 to 5 will resume.

SOOTHING SUGGESTIONS

From Junction Pharmacy. The sun appears to have finally realized that it is summer. The land is drying up and we've even noticed a few burns. The traditional summer problems of wind-blown hair, dry skin and hot days may be with us yet, and if so The Junction Pharmacy has several soothing suggestions.

In a once-a-year special Jacqueline Cochran's excellent moisturizer, Flowing Velvet, is priced at eight ounces for $5.75 (regularly four ounces costs this amount). In another special Pantene hair spray which contains a swiss conditioner and no lacquer costs $3.50 for a $6 value.

Pantene has also reduced the price on its Heat Solution, a multi-conditioner just right for blow-dry hair or hair that gets too much sun. The usual four-ounce size is now $4.50 instead of $9, and a pump dispenser has been added.

Without a doubt Coty's Cool Spell has the most refreshing look of all. In the ice blue color of a pool, you can buy a jelly cologne, spray cologne or a body cologne, $2.75 and $2.95. Even without using it, just looking at the bottles made us feel cool.

The big new fragrance last year in many department stores was Nina Ricci's Farouche, and now it has been released to the smaller stores. This pretty floral scent comes in toilette water ($10 for 3.3 ounces) and in perfume ($14.50 for a quarter ounce).

In addition to the usual

DINER PAYS FINE
For Unsanitary Condition. The New Jersey State Department of Health reported today that two retail food establishments paid a total of $250 in penalties for violations of Chapter XII of the New Jersey State Sanitary Code.

E. Kera-Panagiamas, Inc., which operates the Princetonian Diner, Route 1, in West Windsor, paid $150 for violations found to exist during an inspection conducted on June 27. Among the conditions noted: counter refrigerator had an accumulation of food residue on racks; open seams between grills were heavily encrusted with grease and food residue; evidence of employees smoking in food preparation area; heavy accumulation of dried food residue on counter beneath grill; containers of food in refrigerator were uncovered and nested, allowing for possible food contamination.

There was also heavy accumulation of grease, food particles and debris on floor behind and under grill and fryers; numerous containers of foods stored uncovered and exposed to contamination throughout the establishment; garbage area littered with debris and cans not covered; numerous openings to outside not screened to preclude the entrance of insects and flies, several of which were present in the baking area; no sanitization of tableware and equipment.

A bakery in Freehold was fined $100 for unsanitary conditions.

who notified police of the entry Sunday evening.
Taken were a $35 portable radio and an ice bucket valued at $35. Police said the house was entered by placing tape over a pane of glass in a rear door, breaking the glass and reaching in and unlocking the door.

Headquarters of the Laborer's Local Union No. 50, 282 John Street, was entered between Thursday morning and Friday morning, police said, through an unlocked outer door.

Inside, the intruder forced the door to the main office and pried open a metal cabinet, but nothing appears to have been taken. Sgt. Michael Kopliner investigated.

To enter the home of Irving T. Blount, 34 Rollingmead, last week, someone cut a screen over a kitchen window. As the intruder entered a bedroom around 3 a.m., he was observed by a 12-year old boy who was awakened when he knocked over an electric fan.

Turning, the intruder ran out the bedroom and out the front door. He was described as white, 20, wearing a short sleeved shirt and sneakers. Nothing was taken.

RIDER FRACTURES LEG
Dismounting from Motorcycle. A 29-year old Bristol, Pa., woman suffered a multiple compound fracture of her left leg last week as she was preparing to dismount from her motorcycle on Stockton Street near Library Place.

Riding with three other cyclists, Janice M. Smith told police that she was coming to a stop at the curb and had put her foot out to brace the bike when her left leg went out from under her and the motorcycle fell on her leg.

She was treated at Princeton Medical Center. The mishap took place at 11:21 p.m.

Driver, Cyclist Charged. A driver was charged with failing to yield the right of way and a bicyclist with careless driving following their collision last week at Nassau Street and Princeton Avenue. The car driver, turning left off Nassau onto Princeton Avenue, was Lois E. Hansen, 18, of Ringoes. The cyclist, who was thrown to the corner of the intersection, was David R. Barach, 20, 86 Poe Road. He sustained bruises and a dislocation of his lower leg and foot.

The driver told police that she had seen a bus approaching but had room to make her turn. "Suddenly," she said, "the cyclist came from behind the bus going very fast and I couldn't stop in time."

The cyclist told Ptl. David Alston that the car had cut right in front of him without signaling.

SUSPECTS ARE CHARGED
With Borough Entries. A $130 television set and a $25 clock radio were stolen between 8:30 and 11 Thursday night from a room in Erdman Hall on the Westminster Choir College Campus.

While police were investigating the above entry, a South Stanworth Drive resident called at 11:25 to report that three youths were trying to force a window at her apartment. They were frightened off and police broadcast a description of the suspects.

Two days later, Larry Miller, 20 of Lytle Street, was arrested at 8:18 p.m. on Lytle Street and charged with the two attempted entries. He was released in $2,500 bail in the custody of Franklin Township police, who also had a warrant for his arrest.

In Miller's company at the time was Robin Smith, 21, of Clay Street. She was turned over to the Franklin Township police, who have charged her with attempting to cash a forged check in a Franklin bank.

Shortly after the attempted Stanworth entry, Township Patrolman Harry Morton observed Greg Bullock, 24, 191 John Street, in the Stanworth area. Ptl. Morton apprehended Bullock and turned him over to Borough police who had warrants for his

Q To buy or not to buy, that is the question.

Because substance and quality are absolutely essential in this questionable economy, buying an Audi 100LS makes more sense today than ever before.

You'll be buying the roominess and comfort of a full-sized car: legroom and headroom usually associated with cars twice the price; orthopedically-designed seats that adjust to your body, that reduce fatigue.

You'll be buying German engineering: the control of front-wheel drive and independent suspension; the raciness of rack-and-pinion steering; the extra security of negative steering-roll radius and outboard-vented front disc brakes.

You'll be buying the added economy of fuel injection: 18 miles per gallon* in the city and a startling 28 miles per gallon* on the highway.

It's an elegant, finely-engineered medium-priced luxury car that is built to last. That's substance and quality in any economy, no question about it.

The Dumpel family's interest in tennis is legendary. It was the number of tennis courts, 32, shown on a map of Princeton sent by First Church in a packet of information on the upcoming sponsorship that prompted Frits to declare that Princeton was for them in 1960.

Frits ran the Men's Invitation Tournament for several summers and was responsible for Princeton teams competing in both New Jersey and Trenton leagues.

In August, 1968, TOWN TOPICS nominated him as

Car Wash Saturday

The YM-YWCA High School Outing Club will sponsor a car wash on Saturday from 10 to 3 in the parking lot of the Y building at Avalon Place. The cost is $1.50 per car.

All proceeds benefit the Outing Club, which is raising funds for a 10-day backpacking trip in the White Mountains of New Hampshire later in the month.

Man of the Week, "For minimizing his own accomplishments as a ranking veteran in the 'Middle States,' and stressing the contributions of the Community Tennis Committee; for ever seeking to help others new to Princeton."

Helping others, whether new to Princeton or simply in need, has been a special contribution, too, of Puck Dumpel. "She was always doing neighborly things," says her friend from the "group,"

Mrs. Evans. Adding that "when Puck got something new, she put away the article it replaced for the next family who might need it."

Thinking of the Vietnamese refugees now making their way into this and other communities, Mrs. Evans said, "If the whole town could be made aware and pitch in as the church pitched in for the Dumpels, the results might be the success story the Dumpels represent."

OBITUARIES

Hans P. Gravengaard, 79, of King of Prussia, Pa., died July 23 in Princeton Medical Center. He retired in 1962 as a consultant to the field training division of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.

He is survived by his wife, Helen Thiel Gravengaard of King of Prussia; two sons; a daughter, the Rev. Karen L. Gravengaard of 36 Hibben Road; a brother; three sisters; and six grandchildren.

A private funeral will be held at a later date.

F. Lovell Bixby, 74, died July 29 of cancer at his home in Arlington, Va. Dr. Bixby devoted his professional life to the field of penology and other aspects of the criminal justice system. He achieved recognition for his pioneering efforts in the classification of prisoners and in the development of parole systems.

In 1950, while serving as Director of the Division of Correction and Parole of the New Jersey Department of Institutions and Agencies, he instituted a program for the short-term treatment of youthful offenders, known as Highfields, on the former Lindbergh farm in Hopewell.

Highfields is based on the theory that youthful first-offenders may best be helped through regular work and guided group interaction in a setting without bars and guards. Several similar facilities were later established in New Jersey, when the value of Highfields became apparent, and were subsequently copied in other states.

Born in Gardner, Mass., Dr. Bixby received his undergraduate education at Clark University in Worcester, Mass., and a Ph.D. in psychology from Cornell University in 1926. He taught at Rice Institute in Texas until 1929, when he joined New Jersey's Department of Institutions and Agencies as psychologist and then as director of its Division of Classification and Education.

Following service in the Army in World War II, he returned to New Jersey as Director of the Division of Correction and Parole. In 1959 he became a full-time consultant on probation to the Administrative Office of the Courts, a position he retained until 1967, when he retired from New Jersey service and returned to the Washington D.C. area.

Dr. Bixby received an honorary degree of Doctor of Humane Letters from Rutgers University in 1966, when he was cited for his work as an educator and penal administrator and for the qualities of humaneness and integrity which had led to reform. He was co-author of "The Highfields Story" and author of articles in professional journals dealing with correction.

He is survived by his wife, the former Lenore Epstein; two sons, Ezra L. of Pennington, and Jeffrey M. of Rockville, Md.; a step-daughter, Lynda Sierra of Miami, Fla. and three grandchildren.

Memorial services will be held in Washington and in Princeton at later times. In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to the American Civil Liberties Union Foundation or to the American Cancer Society.

John Dempsey, 82, of Northport, Fla., died July 28 in the Princeton Medical Center. A resident for many years of 16 Park Place, he had been employed as a maintenance man at Princeton High School prior to his retirement.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Mary A. Dempsey; a daughter, Mrs. Martha Foy of Pennington, whom he was visiting at the time of his death; another daughter, Mrs. Henry F. Austin of Rumson; eight grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

The Rev. Donald Thiel, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Pennington, officiated at the funeral. Burial will be at the convenience of the family.

arrest for violation of parole, assault and contempt of court. He was released in his own recognizance by Borough police and taken to Mercer County Jail where he was to be turned over to a State Violations Parole officer.

Twenty minutes later, at 11:45 Thursday night, Gerald Hall, 18, 44 Birch Avenue, and Miller came to Borough headquarters where they wanted to know why the police had picked up Bullock. Hall reportedly became offensive toward Sgt. Thomas Procaccino and was arrested and charged with interfering and creating a disturbance. He was later released in his own recognizance.

Sunday evening, following a police investigation, Hall was arrested on Clay and John Street by Sgt. Robert Anderson and Ptl. Peter Hanley and charged with the attempted entry of 32 S. Stanworth Drive. Miller was similarly charged.

Hall was sent to Mercer County Jail in lieu of $2500 bail. Miller was still in custody of the Franklin Township police.

princeton community village

If you live or work in Princeton, it seems reasonable that you should be able to find housing that you can afford. So Princeton Community Housing is building handsome townhouses and mid-rise apartments on 35 richly wooded acres just off Harrison Street.

The village is planned as an economically, racially and socially balanced community, representative of Princeton as a whole. Federal and State subsidies make this possible - and rents are scaled to assure this balance.

The first townhouses, with 2, 3, or 4 bedrooms, will be ready for occupancy in early August. One bedroom mid-rise apartments will be ready during the winter of 1976.

While we are processing previously submitted applications, additional applications are still being accepted from Princeton residents and Princeton employees for the middle income and market rental categories.

IF YOU HAVE ALREADY SUBMITTED A PRELIMINARY APPLICATION FOR A TOWNHOUSE - BUT HAVE NOT YET BEEN INTERVIEWED - PLEASE CALL 921-1686 AT ANY TIME, DAY OR NIGHT, TO ARRANGE YOUR INTERVIEW. Interviews for one bedroom mid-rise apartments will begin in the fall.

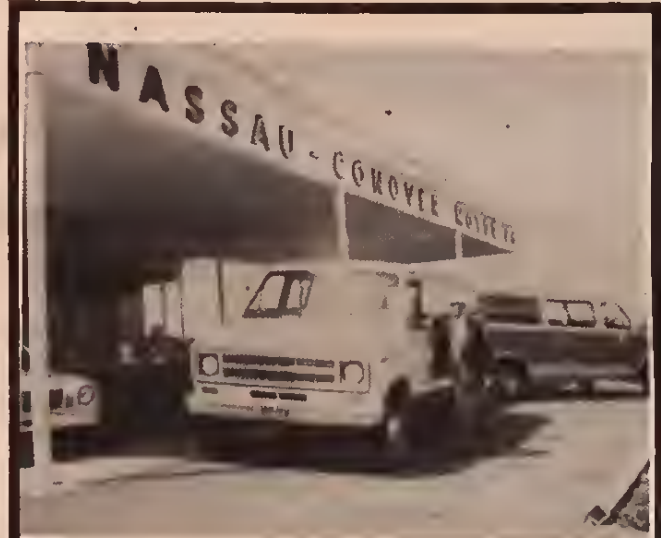

We would be happy to have you stop by to see the model apartment and pick up an application form at the Princeton Community Village office, Bunn Drive - 2 blocks north of the Shopping Center.

9 AM to 1 PM - Monday through Friday

Tentative Salaries Show Increases for Administrators

Figures in a letter to "Mailbox" in last week's TOWN TOPICS gave salaries for administrators in Princeton's schools. The figures were those for the year just ended. The Princeton Regional Administrators Association has been in negotiation with the school board, and although the board has not taken final action, the tentative agreement would provide for the following increases in 1975-76:

Staff Member	New Salary	Increase
Biringer, E.	$28,500	$2,000
Cohen, M.	28,500	2,000
Taylor, L.	28,500	2,000
Frances, E.	28,500	2,000
Petrillo, G.	32,300	3,700
Cobb, P.	29,400	5,000
(Reflecting his appointment as Acting Principal, Middle School)
Seit, A.	25,700	1,300
Burke, F.	25,700	1,300
Soda, F.	25,700	1,300
van Arsdale, N.	25,700	1,300
Huchel, C.	28,500	2,000
Johnson, W.	28,500	2,000
Evans, W.	25,700	1,320

McPherson, P.	31,000	none

mainly motorists stranded throughout the area. The shelter was operated all night and was additionally prepared to handle evacuation with the help of the Dutch Neck Volunteer Fire Company. Ambulance service was provided by the Twin W Rescue Squad.

On Monday the 21st, a preliminary survey of damage was undertaken by the chapter in West Windsor Township with the help of the Police Chief, Francis Maguire. Damage surveys were also conducted in Plainsboro and Cranbury townships.

Inquiries to the Princeton Chapter are still being received from throughout its area of responsibility which includes the townships of Princeton, East and West Windsor, Cranbury, Plainsboro, Lawrence and Montgomery, and the boroughs of Princeton, Hightstown and Rocky Hill, plus the Village of Kingston.

SELF-SERVICE OFFERED

At New "Post Office." If you think it's convenient now, just wait 'till Christmas. The new Self Service Unit of the Princeton post office is quietly humming away in the Princeton Shopping Center, vending stamps and envelopes and swallowing up parcel post as efficiently as the main office itself.

The Unit is open all day — 24 hours — every day. Roderick Gorman, clerk-technician from the main post office, checks it out daily, but it's a self-service unit, and you're on your own. If you have troubles, a direct-line telephone right there, will connect you to the main post office.

Here's what you can do at the unit:

- Buy $1 books of 10 cent stamps (no air-mails); aerograms; standard-size stamped envelopes and post-cards.

- Change your one-dollar bill in a change machine.
- Weigh your package on the parcel post scale that weighs up to 70 pounds.
- Calculate the parcel postage on the convenient charts.

- Insure your parcel at the $15 minimum by purchasing an insurance tag in the vending machine. (For insurance over $15, you need the main office.)

- Weigh your first-class mail on a little 16-oz. scale.

"It's doing great business, in just a week of operation," Mr. Gorman says happily, "and that's important because if people don't use it, the Unit will be taken away. We have to make a certain quota in each accounting period. Can't lose more than 5 cents on the dollar — and they'd prefer that we don't lose more than 3 cents."

Warning to Home-Owners

Don't wait until winter to start your furnace. That's the warning this week from both Nassau Oil and Princeton Fuel Oil. Even if you heat with gas or electricity, they say, you should heed the warning, and give your furnace a trial heat.

Maybe you weren't flooded, but everybody has had dampness and dampness can lay a coating of rust across the controls that will keep your furnace from working. The smart thing is to find it out now.

On a relatively cool day, turn the furnace on and let it go for ten or 15 minutes, said Robert Blazer, vice-president of Princeton Fuel Oil and William Deering, general manager of Nassau Oil.

"If everybody waits 'till the first cold snap before turning on the furnace" Mr. Blazer grins, "well, you could be 122nd on our list of customers in trouble!"

Flood Assistance Rebuffed.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Following is the text of a letter I have written to the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross:

I am writing to you to protest.

On Monday and Tuesday of last week, there was a flood disaster in the Greater Mercer County Area. In response to this on Tuesday, my father and I packed up two storage cases with pillows and blankets and put six brand new pairs of shoes in a bag.

My father delivered them to your office on Wednesday and received a rather cool reception. The general attitude was "why are you bothering us by bringing these things to us."

There are people living in this community who were victims of these floods. Is your response to them, "why bother us with your problem?"

Perhaps I assume too much, but isn't the Red Cross supposed to respond in a disaster? Are donations of goods unacceptable?

Inadequate News Coverage.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Just how the local radio station, WHWH, has gained public service awards surpasses understanding.

On the evening of July 20 when a tree crushed a car and blocked traffic on Nassau Street, no word to the travelling public was broadcast until long after the street was cleared, and after a long recorded music program.

The information given on road conditions on July 21 morning news was inaccurate, reporting the past rather than the current conditions. The same lack of current coverage was notable the previous week, and during the snows of the past winter.

Would it be beyond this public service radio station's budget limitations to invest a dime to check more frequently with the municipal and state police during major weather problems?

Could they not forego or interrupt their "American Entertainment Network" schedules?

Appalled by Apostrophe

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Re: Letter from K.E. Nicoll, River Road Disposal Center Sign (TOWN TOPICS, July 24).

I am appalled at the spelling errors I see daily around me and know this is due to the poor educational systems prevalent everywhere in our country.

It will be necessary to again correct the sign in question to read: "FOR PRINCETON RESIDENTS ONLY." There is no apostrophe used for a plural noun!

MRS. ALAN BOYDEN, JR.
4 Holly Drive
Belle Mead

Editor's Note: Mrs. Nicoll's letter pointed out in a somewhat subtle way that the sign was still incorrect. TOWN TOPICS, using the heading, "Let's Try Once More," attempted to clarify her intent. Her letter read as follows: "Until recently the sign board at the entrance to the disposal center on River Road announced that the facility is 'For Princeton Residence Only.' This was bound to be picked up by someone in an academic community like ours and a new sign now reads, 'For Princeton Resident's Only.'"

Sierra Club Needs a Home.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The New Jersey Chapter of the Sierra Club is sending out an urgent SOS --- not for money, though that's always acceptable --- but for help with its housing problem. For some time the Chapter and the Friends of the Princeton Environment have shared an office, but the latter is no longer in a position to do so. The Sierra Club cannot afford to "go it alone" and is faced with two options: 1) finding a compatible group (not necessarily environmental) to share its office, or 2) finding another office it can afford by itself. But where?

As the "official filer" of the Chapter office and therefore something of a fly on the wall, I am in a position to observe the workings of the office, and I am constantly impressed. The Sierra Club is not, as many believe, just a "bunch of birdwatchers and backpackers".

It is, by and large, a group of politically and socially intelligent citizens who are working for a healthy environment for all of us despite the contradictory demands and within the complicated framework of today's world. This is particularly true of the small, dedicated, hard-working staff of the local Chapter office. I'm sure very few Princetonians realize

Save Princessville Tavern.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Recent articles in the press describing the past glory and present plight of the Princessville Tavern (on Princeton Pike) have aroused considerable interest in this historic structure. The Lawrence Historic and Aesthetic Commission headed by Mrs. Winona Nash, civic groups, individual citizens and the Lawrence Township government would like to see the Inn preserved.

Some residents recommend that the Tavern and nearby Baker Brearley House, located near the Delaware and Raritan Canal, be transformed into an historic, cultural and recreational asset for the entire community.

The problem of raising sufficient funds is crucial and immediate. Following up on the initiatives taken by Mrs. Nash and the Commission, the Lawrence Township Council has authorized Municipal Manager George Gottuso to try to secure funds from state and national government to purchase the property from the Bet-Max Corporation. State Green Acres funds would, of course, have to be matched on a 50-50 basis by the Township.

Under current law, federal funds for such purposes are granted almost exclusively to cities. There are exceptions. The Bridgepoint area in Montgomery Township has been placed on the National Register of Historic Places - the first rural farming district to be so designated - and acquisitions, preservation and restoration work on historic properties are thus eligible for up to 50 percent federal funding.

NOTICE

Letters to TOWN TOPICS "Mailbox" should be typed, double-spaced, signed and received for publication no later than Monday. No letter will be printed without a valid signature and address. Letters longer than 500 words may be edited or omitted entirely, at the discretion of the editor. Letters on subjects not specifically related to the Princeton area may also be rejected.

It is difficult to secure funds for the preservation of historic structures. Mount Vernon had fallen into disrepair when a group of women determined that it should be restored. The frigate "Old Ironsides," condemned to the scrap heap in 1830, was rebuilt when public sentiment was aroused following the publication of the famous poem by Oliver Wendell Holmes. Somewhere in Lawrence Township there must be a local laureate who could write a stirring ballad about the lively scenes in the barroom and ballroom of the Princessville Tavern.

In the spirit of the bicentennial and in recognition of our need for continuity with the past, many citizens and local organizations would undoubtedly contribute to a fund for the purchase of the Inn and provide tangible support for the efforts of Mr. Gottuso.

Princessville Tavern is the kind of place that should be preserved because it uniquely represents the social and political history of both Lawrence Township and Mercer County. The task of all of us is to teach - to tell the story of our community so that each new generation has the opportunity to learn about and to enjoy the benefits and progress created by previous generations - and the chance to avoid the error and the agony of past mistakes.

We have a responsibility to preserve and protect the body of shared experiences which we call our history.

Light on the Horizon.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

There is a faint flicker of light on that ever tainted political horizon of our country. The flicker is Harry

Sayen and the position he is running for is the county executiveship on November 4, 1975, in Mercer County, N.J. Harry Sayen and the nationally new concept in county government represent the most illuminating promise to come to the political scene in years.

The election's political repercussions warrant close attention because, first, a new concept in county government will be put to the electorate, which if widely accepted will mean new revisions of other antiquated county government systems throughout the United States; second, Harry Sayen will be running on the Republican ticket which means if he wins in the Democratically controlled County of Mercer it will be a positive indicator to President Ford in 1976 and third, Harry Sayen is new to politics, a maverick, in that he has left a successful business career to act and not talk about how the "successful" should get involved.

He is facing a well-entrenched Democratic political machine and Harry's going to the grass roots, knocking on doors, shaking hands, approximately 18,000 to date, and 6-7 coffee hours a week. It may sound trite, but give 'em hell Harry!

Toll-Free Number Set Up To Aid Elderly

Eligibility for food stamps, discounts on fuel, increased benefits under Social Security and Medicare, free fishing licenses and bus rides. These are the questions on the minds of the New Jersey's elderly residents, and now they have a place to call.

They may or may not find a program to help them, but they always get an answer on the Senior Hot-Line, a toll-free number (800-792-8820) run by the Department of Community Affairs' Division on Aging in Trenton. The Hot-Line, which began operation in February, has received about 3,000 calls in its first four months. The senior citizens are given answers to their questions, or referred to an office that can help them.

When the Hot-Line staff does not know the answer or where to refer the caller, the research begins. The worker will track down the information the caller wanted and get him an answer within a few hours.

"Some of the calls are routine," a staff worker explained. "The people just want to know where they can find out about programs they are entitled to. We often refer them to their county Offices on Aging."

"We have many callers now wanting to know about the half-fare card for buses," said another Hot-Line staffer. "We also inform them of free transportation they may be entitled to that is run by their county offices."

Senior citizens also ask about the Meals on Wheels program. This state program run through some county offices makes meals available to homebound senior citizens, and supplements the Hot Meals programs served in central locations by all county offices.

"Many programs available to senior citizens are not taken advantage of because our elderly citizens do not know about them," said Community Affairs Commissioner Patricia Q. Sheehan.

AUGUST CLASSES AT PAA
Registration On Now. The Princeton Art Association will offer three classes and a Sunday morning workshop (model, no instruction) during the month of August.

Vincent Ceglia's "Painting in all Media" on Tuesday and Thursday evenings will present a contemporary approach to oil, acrylic, watercolor, tempera, collage, pastels, etc. on a variety of surfaces. This class is for those students with some experience.

On Wednesday morning, Elizabeth Monath will teach "It's Worth a Try." The class will involve total beginners in a variety of media with the aim of developing the student's latent talents.

Also for beginners is a Wednesday evening class, "Beginning Steps in Oil and Acrylic Painting," taught by Laurence Greenberg. A basic class in which the skills necessary for painting in oils or acrylics will be developed. On Sunday morning, artists may paint at the PAA Studio on Rosedale Road; there will be a model but no instruction.

To register for classes or for further information, call the PAA at 921-9173.

SESSIONS EXTENDED

At Cranbury Studio. The initial "Art Room" program, open studio sessions for life drawing at the Old Cranbury, 23 North Main Street, Cranbury, has drawn a number of artists. The program consists of 12 sessions for artists and students of art who wish to practice drawing skills and to work with other artists in a well-equipped studio facility.

The "Art Room" has extended its Open Studio Session to individuals who wish to "drop in" on an evening-to-evening basis at a fee of $4.50 per session. Anyone wishing to sign up for the ten remaining sessions may do so at a pro-rate of the original fee of $42.

19 HAVE JOBS

Through University Program. This summer 19 young men and women from the Trenton-Princeton area are participating in Princeton University's Para-Technical Program for minority students. Established in 1969, this eight-week program provides students with work experience and training in technical and science-related positions throughout the university.

The youths also participate in an extensive counseling program, which encourages them to explore alternatives carefully before making educational or career decisions. In addition to the needs of the students, the program serves the needs of the local business community by broadening the skilled labor force available in the area.

Among the businesses whose contributions have made the program possible this year are the Cities Service Research and Development Company (Cranbury), The First National Bank of Princeton, and Princeton Bank and Trust Company. The Para-Technical Program is administered by the university's Office of Personnel Services.

Area students participating in the Para-Technical Program this summer are: Willie Alexander, 42 Leigh Ave., a sophomore in education at Boston University, who works in the Frick Chemical Laboratory; George Bess, 168 John St., a freshman in visual arts at Mercer County Community

SKI CLUB BUSY

Even in August. Sailing, rafting, tennis, and barbecues continue to highlight the summer schedule of the Princeton Ski Club and are open to guests as well as members.

In addition to the bi-weekly Wednesday evening barbecues, which alternate with bi-weekly tennis at the Community Park courts, the August program calls for a white water raft trip on the Youghiogheny River in western Pennsylvania, August 2-3; an indoor tennis party Saturday evening, August 9, at the North Brunswick Racquet Club on Route 1; sailing on Barnegat Bay, August 16; and a day in the sun at Island Beach State Park, August 24.

The August 13 barbecue — all are BYO events, with ice and charcoal furnished — is at the home of Ed Anderson, 9 Ober Road; the August 27 barbecue will be held at the home of Roy Huggins, 336 Princeton Road, Plainsboro. Swimming is available at each, with evening festivities getting underway at 6.

Tennis on August 6 and 20 is scheduled for 6 and 7:30 p.m. Further information may be obtained from Art Bishop, 924-8727.

Arthur Kaiman, Box 2542, Skillman, heads the trip by bus to the Youghiogheny for white water rafting, with accommodations at a nearby campsite or in area motels. Four hours of tennis and a buffet dinner will draw court fans to the August 9 tennis party in North Brunswick, according to leader Toby Tuckman, 17 Wheeler Rd., Kendall Park.

Leading the day sail August 16 will be Herb Foster, H-2 Lakeview Terrace, Princeton. Signups should be made in advance. Those planning to attend the beach party August 24 should meet at the wildlife museum in Island Beach Park at 9:30 a.m., or look for a Princeton Ski Club identification flag on the beach during the day.

The traditional Labor Day weekend sail — three days on 35-44 foot vessels — will be held again on the Chesapeake, sailing out of Annapolis harbor. Arrangements should be made through Beatrice Karstad, 713 Rosedale Road.

ANNUAL REUNION SET

By Stout Descendants. The 47th annual reunion for descendants of Richard Stout and Penelope (Van Princess) Stout will be held Saturday, August 9, at the Calvary Baptist Church in Hopewell.

The program will begin at 10 a.m., rain or shine. The genealogical charts will be on display and assistance will be given to those wishing to trace their ancestry. Tables and chairs will be provided for those wishing to bring a basket lunch. A business meeting will begin at 1:30.

The principal speaker for the afternoon will be Walter J. Young, chairman of Hunterdon County's Cultural and Heritage Commission. His speech entitled "Return to Hunterdon" will project Bicentennial plans for the county. Mr. Young is a trustee of the Hunterdon County Historical Society and the Clinton Historical Museum.

The Old School Baptist Church will be open to visitors from 10 until noon and from 3 to 5. Nine of the fifteen members who organized this church in 1715 were Stouts and many members of the pioneer Stout families are buried in the church yard. The Hopewell Museum will welcome visitors following the afternoon meeting.

All by the name of Stout, allied families, and their friends are urged to attend the reunion.

EQUIPMENT LOANED

To West Windsor Sick. The West Windsor Lions Club continues to offer a variety of free hospital equipment on loan to any West Windsor resident as long as it is needed. Items now stocked by the club include many different types of crutches, metal walkers, hospital beds and an apparatus with which to lower a person into a bathtub.

The equipment is available at the office of Dr. John DiPolvere, chairman of the Lions' hospital equipment, on Hendrickson Drive near the tennis courts. Dr. DiPolvere's telephone number, which has a 24-hour answering service, is 799-1447, if there are any questions about this free service.

The Lions also suggest that if anyone has any hospital equipment which they are not now using it could be donated for other people's use.

Footnotes

by Mel Atlas, Reg. Pharm

Quack dentists were plentiful in the eighteenth century and were a popular attraction at fairs and markets in Europe and America. One of the most famous, experts tell us, was Martin van Butchall, who was one of the sights of London in the 1770's. He claimed to supply a complete set of dentures and fit them "without drawing stumps or causing pain." If it had been true, he would have been famous enough without riding around London on a white horse painted with purple spots. Lucky for us, good dentistry is one of the joys of modern society.

Here's an oddity from pro football... Although the Pittsburgh Steelers wound up as the number one team in the National Football League last season, winning the Super Bowl, they ranked 21st in the league in passing for the season!... Twenty teams had better passing statistics than the Steelers, yet the Steelers won the Super Bowl.

Although many people have never heard of him, the highest paid person in sports in America last year, except for three heavyweight boxers, was a man named Herve Filion... According to a national news service, Filion, who is a driver in harness racing, made more money in sports in 1974 than anyone else except Muhammad Ali, George Foreman and Joe Frazier.

The Olympics have been held in the United States four times in history... Do you know when and where in the U.S.?... The winter Olympics were at Lake Placid in 1932 and at Squaw Valley in 1960... The summer Olympics were held in St. Louis in 1904 and in Los Angeles in 1932.

CONTE'S IS CHAMPION
Following Tournament Sweep, Conte's of the Princeton Adult Softball League won the Angeloni's Invitational Tournament last weekend when it swept five games without a loss in the two-day event.

Coached by player-manager Jim Pirone, Conte's defeated Johnclair, 27-3; Anchor Bar, 8-5; Chit-Chat, 3-1; Romeo & Juliet, 5-4; and Hierchie's, 9-4. In all but the lopsided victory over Johnclair, Conte's had to come from behind to win.

Conte's Jerry Perpetua was named the tournament's Most Valuable Player. The winning Conte players were: Jamie Brockart, Tony Cammarata, Nohman El-Meligi, Doug Heil, Wayne Johnson, Joe Mattera, Neale Messina, Charlie Perpetua, Jerry Perpetua, John Pesce, Jim Pirone, Tony Pirone, Jim Reese, John Ritter, Hugo Rossi and Lusiano Rossi.

JIM PIRONE is player-manager of Conte's which last week won the Angeloni's Invitational Softball Tournament without the loss of a single game. Conte's is a member of the Princeton Adult Softball League.

Princeton outthit Florence, 12 to 8, but three of the victors' hits were home runs, each with men on base. "That's what killed us," said Princeton coach Jack O'Neill.

Trailing 12-4 at the start of the final inning, Princeton rallied for six runs, half of them coming on a three-run homer by Chipper Kleiber. "One more hit and we would have had them," said O'Neill.

Kleiber also drove in two more runs with a double to emerge as the batting star. John Kandell and Mike Thompson each had a double and single, Thompson driving in three. Losing pitcher Brent Robinson, who went all the way, and Kyle Simpson had two singles each for the Princeton All Stars.

Princeton's next opponent will be Washington Township. The game will be played at 9 Thursday night at the PAL Field in Trenton near Korvette's.

TWO REACH FINALS

In Lehigh Valley Tennis, Dan Aronovic, Carrie Balcomb, Jeff Lyle and Mark Goodman led more than a score of young Princeton-area players in a good performance in last week's junior tennis championships in the Lehigh Valley.

Smart shot-making carried Aronovic through the week, helping him defeat several seeded players en route to the finals of the 16-and-under championships. He finished runner-up to Kent Scrivener, who, like Aronovic, is one of the top-ranked juniors in the region.

Carrie Balcomb of Cranbury relied on a consistent game to reach the girl's 16's final. The second seed in her division, Balcomb lost to the No. 1 seed in the final match.

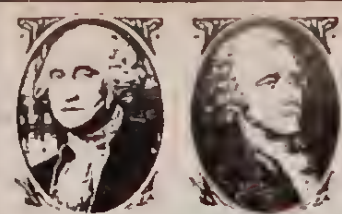

In the 18's division, Jeff Lyle advanced to the semi-finals before losing to the tourney favorite, Tim McAvoy. To reach the semis of the 12-and-under division, Mark Goodman defeated four players, including the No. 2 seed, without losing a set. His loss in the semi-final was a three-hour marathon which ended in a 5-3 tie breaker in the third set.

Diane Aronovic reached the quarterfinals of the girl's 12-and-under division before losing to the top seed. In the 14's, Debbie Garb reached the round of 16 while Lisa Garb advanced to the quarters.

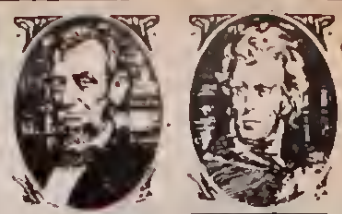

In the 16's Beth Oglesby survived to the round of 16 and Michele Benjamin advanced to the quarters before being eliminated by Balcomb.

Suzanne Usiskin, Michele Newman, Karen Clark, and Clare Treves were among other girl competitors from Kinsey Dyckman and Jim Parmele distinguished themselves by reaching the round of 16 in their divisions. Larry Edelman lost to the first seed in his first-round match in the 14's, and Keith Usiskin lost a tough second round battle to John Quinn. Others in the tournament from this area were Bill Jennings, Larry Stabler, Time Byrne, Hugo Walter, Simeon Hulner, Jim Goodenough and Andrew Hildrick-Smith.

TENNIS PLAYER 2-1
In Exchange Matches. Young players in the Princeton Community Tennis Program returned from exchange matches with Hopewell Valley, East Windsor and Seabright with two victories and their first defeat of the summer.
They breezed through their matches at Hopewell Valley Country Club, and had little trouble in a return encounter with East Windsor. Last Friday, however, Seabright scored a 33-27 upset.

More than 50 players competed in the three matches. Among them were: Brian Reilly, Ted Rose, Robin Deutsch, Bryce Thompson, Tim Byrne, Sam Reeves, Floyd Roberts, Peter Hatfield, Drake Powers, Doug Brown, Lisa Garb, Kathy Tomlinson, Debbie Garb, Carrie Kopelman, Diane Needham, Holly Light, Diane Aronovic, Susan Usiskin, Abby Shefer, Lynn Bline, Beth Gilpin, Mary Pat Cahill, Lynn Zuccarelli, Karen Sanders, Chris King and Scott Santin.

RAIN INTERFERES
With Softball Play. After a schedule that was noticeably curtailed by the deluge two weeks ago, the season returned to some semblance of order last week for the Princeton Business Softball League with the exception of one wet field and one missing umpire, factors which prevented play in two games.

Firmenich lost its fourth straight to ETS, 6-5, after dropping a game to Forrestal the week before, 6-1. The ETS victory gave it first place in the National Division. John Barone batted 2-2, and Willie Turner and Pete Semonelli were 2-3.

In the American Division, McGraw-Hill downed Cities Services Research, 5-2, to maintain its leading position. In the low hitting game, Skeet Muse, Dave Sands and Barry Brommell all had two.

Geophysical Fluid Dynamics Labs had a good night as it put American Cyanamid on the losing end of a 7-4 score. Russ Sinclair's seven-hitter was almost singlehandedly won by Ted Terpstra, who had four safeties in four attempts, including a home run, and four RBI's.

Forrestal had a field day against Ingersoll Rand Research with a 24-6 score, and ERC took RCA (B) by 8-3. Mike DeAngelo hit 3-4 for ERC, accounting for a quarter of the 12 hits. Bob Heinz was the winning pitcher.

United Jersey Banks continued to hold second place in the American Division by defeating Squibb, 10-8. Two hitters sparked the evening, Dick Morbee and Frank Cool, both going 4 for 4.

With many make-up games scheduled for the next two weeks, the standings for the two divisions are:

A bronze bas-relief plaque of Teddy Roosevelt, done by James Earl Fraser, 1920, identical to the one in Sagamore Hill. In excellent condition, depicts the spirit and charm of our favorite hero. (Fraser did the sculpture of The Indian at the End of the Trail, and the Indian on the buffalo nickel.)

A pair of Indian dolls, Navaho, appropriately Mr. and Mrs., real bits of folk art. Probably about 80 years old. They were placed in a primitive shadow box by the child owner's brother about 50 years ago.

Six enchanting small coin spoons, about 1805, incised "Pratt", with a basket of flowers on the front of each. Probably the loveliest set we've ever seen.
